SUNDAYS IN PELICAN – ONE MORE TIME!

(updated, July 16, 2001 – Juneau) -- On Sunday, July 22nd, Alaska's Marine Highway will again offer travel to the community of Pelican at half the regular price! Built entirely on a wooden boardwalk made of pilings, Pelican is one of the last true waterfront boardwalk villages in the United States – and truly "roadless."

Service to Pelican on the 22nd, is scheduled for a 7AM departure from Juneau, returning at 10PM. Those going round-trip on the M/V LeConte, will have two hours in port.

Travel for passengers 12 and older will be 35 dollars round-trip. Children two through 11 will travel for 18 dollars, approximately 50 percent of discounted adult fare, while children under two travel for free. (A roundtrip is not required to qualify for this discount and may be taken in either direction or roundtrips; however, this discount cannot be combined with any other discount.)

For more information about Sundays in Pelican or service to any of the other 33 communities served by Alaska's Marine Highway, call 465-3941 (or visit the AMHS website at www.alaska.gov/ferry).
